LETTER FROM THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Children's Bureau and the National Quality Improvement Center for Collaborative Community Court Teams (QIC-CCCT), we welcome you to the 2nd Annual All-Sites Meeting. It's hard to believe it has been a year since we last convened. With the Collaborative Community Court Teams in full implementation mode, this meeting offers a tremendous opportunity to learn about successful innovations from your colleagues and share your experience in addressing implementation challenges. This past year, the QIC-CCCT Technical Assistance Team challenged you to move beyond business as usual and improve practices, policies and systems to address the needs of infants and families affected by prenatal substance exposure and substance use disorders. You are answering that challenge through expanded partnerships, improved coordination and collaboration, new or enhanced services, and data-driven decision making. We developed the agenda to showcase your accomplishments and to support peer to peer networking, discussion and learning, as well as offering subject matter expertise. We encourage you to network with other court teams throughout the meeting.

The Children's Bureau has refocused the mission of the child welfare system to prevent maltreatment and unnecessary placement. To quote Associate Commissioner for the Children's Bureau Jerry Milner,

We need to create environments where families get the support they need before harm occurs.

I believe the QIC-CCCT can make a substantial contribution in realizing that mission. Almost all of the QIC demonstration sites are implementing collaborative practices to support pregnant women, and over half of the sites are implementing prenatal Plans of Safe Care that includes families not involved in the child welfare system. For court involved families, Plans of Safe Care that address the needs of infants and their families by forging coordinated and effective care among infant and maternal health care, substance use disorder treatment, child welfare, early intervention, public health, and other community providers can help prevent the unnecessary removal of children from their homes and the recurrence of child maltreatment. This meeting brings together your partners who are committed to improving outcomes for children and families. We hope your participation helps you achieve your team's mission and goals.

Sincerely,

Ken DeCerchio, MSW, CAP

Deputy Director for the National Quality Improvement Center for Collaborative Community Court Teams
